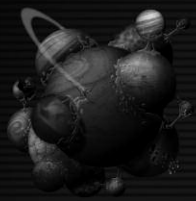
Getting Started

The Cartoon Network Universe is in serious danger. An alien planet is invading and its goal is total destruction. Someone's gotta save the universe. The time is now. The hero is you.

Game Elements

Here are a few things you'll only find in FusionFall.



Planet Fusion

This enormous planet ruled by Lord Fuse has been traveling through space, breaking down planets and absorbing them. Now it has its sights set on our world.

Fusion Matter

The "green goo" that Fuse is using to infect our world. All monsters are comprised of Fusion Matter.

Cartoon Network Characters

The whole world of FusionFall is full of faces from your favorite shows. They will give you missions and tips to help you save the world.

Fusions

Fuse's most powerful minions, Fusions are dark versions of the Cartoon Network characters, and they are the boss monsters that must be defeated to make new Nanos.

Nano

Miniature collectible versions of Cartoon Network characters that grant players special abilities and powers.

You may also use Open Chat to type whatever you like into the chat window. Please note that if you are under the age of 18, you will be required to obtain parental permission to use Open Chat.

Jump into Battle!

You have to fight Planet Fusion's invasion by defeating monsters and collecting their Fusion Matter. No time for boot camp – get ready for combat now!

Attack

Click the left mouse button or press Z to fire (or swing) your weapon.

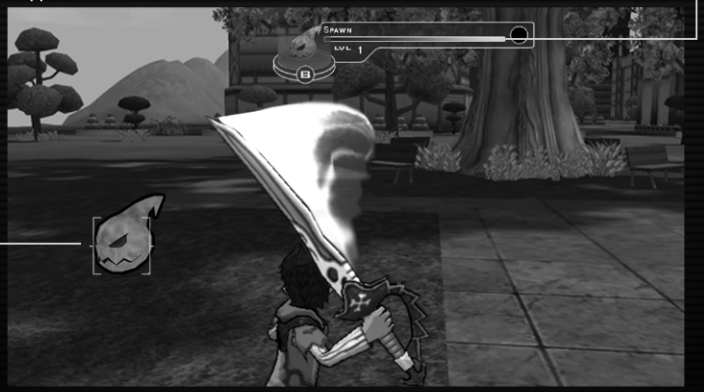
Targeting

To target a monster, line it up in your sights. Once you are aligned, the monster's information window will appear at the top of your screen and a combat icon will appear over the monster.

Monster Health

As you inflict damage, the health of the monster will decrease. The monster's health is represented by the multicolor bar in the info window at the top of the screen.



Defeat and Loot

Defeating Monsters

If a monster's health drops to zero, the Fusion Matter that is animating the monster will break up, and the monster will disintegrate. You will receive Fusion Matter as the monster breaks apart.

Loot

You will automatically collect Fusion Matter and loot dropped by defeated enemies, including C.R.A.T.E.s stolen from the KND. C.R.A.T.E.s Contain Really Awesome Things for Everyone! To see the items you have collected (if any), open your inventory by pressing I on your keyboard. If a monster drops a C.R.A.T.E., open it by clicking on the C.R.A.T.E.'s icon. Note: the four types of C.R.A.T.E.s, in escalating order of rarity, are: Standard, Special, Sooper and Sooper Dooper.

Knockouts and Revival

If your health drops to zero, your character will be knocked out and will revive at the nearest Resurrect 'Em. Resurrect 'Ems are a chain of regeneration spots run by none other than Billy and Mandy's pal Grim, of course!

Missions and Rewards

Mission Givers

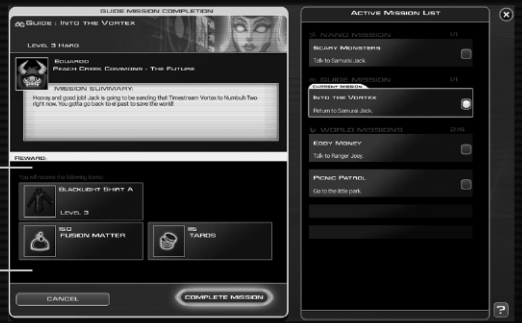
Characters with missions for you will have a mission icon over their heads ! ? . When you find a character with a mission, walk up to them until the talk icon appears, then click on it.

Mission Journal

You can open your Mission Journal at any time by either pressing the J key or pressing the ENTER key and selecting Journal from the main menu.

Mission Rewards

When you complete missions, you will be offered rewards. To accept the rewards click on the Complete Mission button. In some cases you will have a choice of rewards. Select the rewards you want before clicking on the Complete Mission button.



Talk to me in Sector V to receive your first mission.

Dangerous Areas

Infected Zones

The Infected Zones are full of raw Fusion Matter that can hurt you. You have to enter these areas to complete missions and battle Fusions (evil lookalikes of Cartoon Network heroes). Stay out of the green pools of Fusion Matter if at all possible, or you will start taking damage and lose health. Even after you are no longer touching the raw Fusion Matter, your character will continue to take damage for a period of time.

Warp Gates

Warp gates are portals that transport players into and out of Infected Zones. To enter an Infected Zone, click on the Dexbot attendant at the gate and select the warp icon. You exit the same way.

Fusion Boss Monsters operate out of lairs hidden inside Infected Zones. You'll need to defeat them to earn Nanos.

Moving Through Dangerous Areas

Jump Pad
Jumping on a jump pad will allow you to jump higher in the air than normal.

Zip Line
Once the use icon appears, click on the end of a zip line to slide across it to the other end. Let go of the zip line at any time by pressing the SPACE BAR.

Cannon
Cannons can shoot you out and over danger. Click on the use icon then aim the cannon. To power up and launch, press and release the SPACE BAR.

Nanos: Mini versions of Cartoon Network characters

Nanos
Nanos are collectible stylized versions of Cartoon Network characters that assist players by giving them special powers for combat and exploration.

Nano Creation
To make a Nano you need to do two things. First, you must collect enough Fusion Matter to create the Nano by completing missions and defeating monsters. Second, you must also complete a Nano mission by defeating a Fusion boss monster. When you complete a Nano mission, a new Nano will be created and added to your collection.

Nano Powers
As your new Nano is created, you must pick one of three possible powers for it. The power you select will affect the battles you enter with this Nano, so choose carefully!

You can change a Nano's power at any Nano Station. You may need to purchase special power items to complete the power change process.

NANOS: MANAGING YOUR NANOS

NANO STATIONS

You can collect up to 36 Nanos, but you can only equip three Nanos in your NanoCom at a time. To switch out Nanos, you must locate a Nano Station. These stations can be found in the Cul-de-Sac in Peach Creek Commons, the K.N.D. Treehouse in Sector V and other locations in the game.

USING NANO POWERS

A Nano's combat effects and powers only work when that Nano is summoned (active, or "up"). To summon a Nano, you simply press its corresponding keyboard key – 1 2 or 3 – as designated in the NanoCom.

Some Nano powers like Run and Jump automatically work as long as the Nano is active (passive powers). Other powers require you to activate them (active powers). Stun, Heal, and Recover are examples. To use active powers, click the right button on your mouse or press X .

NANO STAMINA

Eventually, Nanos get tired. They lose stamina while they are active, and lose additional stamina when using their powers. Once a Nano's stamina is depleted, the Nano goes back into the NanoCom, and cannot be used again until it is rested.

YOUR OBJECTIVE

THE FATE OF THE WORLD IS IN YOUR HANDS.

When you volunteered to be part of a time-travel experiment with Dexter, little did you know that you'd become the last hope for the universe. When Dee Dee disrupted the experiment with her overzealous button pushing, you were flung much further into the future than was intended, and the time machine was broken.

Your arrival in the future could be the very thing that turns the tables of the war against Fuse. Our heroes have given you some basic training to get your first Nano and brief you on your objective. You have to repair the time machine and go back to the past so you can prevent the destruction of the world.

After a little basic training, you start the game in Sector V, which has been torn apart by the alien invasion. Where you go from there... is up to you.

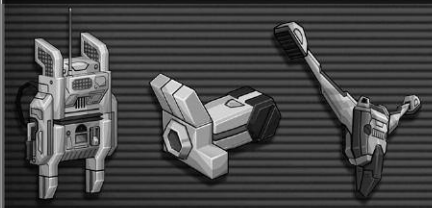
GUIDE MISSIONS

You'll have help while adventuring in the Cartoon Network Universe! When you first arrive in Sector V, Computress will act as your guide, sending helpful emails and offering advice. Once you warp to the past, you will be able to select one of four new guides to help you throughout the game: Dexter, Edd, Ben or Mojo Jojo.

Like Computress, your guide will provide help and send you on unique guide-related missions (one per level) that result in special guide rewards. These rewards are some of the coolest items in the game, and cannot be traded or sold!

You will have the opportunity to change your guide later if you like. However, if you change your guide, you will keep your old guide gear, but you won't be able to equip it anymore.



BEN

Ben must prevent Fuse from getting his claws on hidden Plumber technology, and only you can help him!
